Take a private tour with a knowledgeable guide of this gorgeous historic mansion.

Stepping into the Manor, it is easy to be overwhelmed by its beauty. Willistead Manor was built in 1906 for Edward Chandler Walker, the second son of Hiram Walker, founder of the world-renowned distillery. No expense was spared in the materials or labor. The exterior of gray limestone, was hand-cut at the Willistead work site by Scottish stonemasons.

Albert Kahn, a noted Detroit architect of the day, designed the impressive great staircase in the fashion of the 17th century – made of oak, with large landings and elaborately carved newel posts. The Dining Room features mahogany paneling, a green marble fireplace, and a wall-panel that conceals a large walk-in safe where the family stored their silver.

Paul Martin Gardens, a floral memorial to the late Senator, is an enjoyment for all visitors.
